MISSING GARAGE MAN AND WIFE PLANNED TO GO TO GERMANY

Cremation of Burned Body Planned Before Identification as That of Girl, Stolen from Grave

$16,000 IN LIFE INSURANCE
CARRIED BY HARRY BRENN

Barking of Dog in Cemetery Caused Linking Together of Theft From Grave and Finding of Remains in Auto in Building
Destroyed by Fire

Criminal history is that the best-ordered plot usually has a flaw, nearly always because all that may happen may not be anticipated.

Had it not been for the persistent barking of a dog in Mount Hope Cemetery last Monday night it probably never would have been discovered that the new-made grave of a young girl had been robbed of its body.

Had not the alarming barking of the dog roused the sexton of an adjoining cemetery to shoot the rays of a flashlight about the house and into the night, the body found in the ruins of a garage at Oakville, St.
Louis County, four miles distant,
would have been accepted as that of the garage owner.

And had this body been cremated
today, as it was planned, the pa-gare owner, a former soldier, with $16,000 of insurance upon his life, might now, as he had planned, have been on his way to Germany with his war bride and 11-month-old son.

What Dog's Barking Bared.
But the barking of the dog apparently caused those who were robbing
the grave to flee, leaving it uncovered, its casket in a clump of weeds.
And the unusual occurrences of the robbing of a grave and the finding of a body in the garage ruins on the same night led St. Louis detectives to match up these facts:

That the body found in the garage was that of the young girl stolen from the cemetery, and not that of the garage owner.

That Harry R. Brenn, 26 years old, the garage owner, is missing.
He was in arrears several months
on the $15 a month rental of his garage and cottage. His wife, whose clothes were piled upon cushions in their home and who had ordered cremation of the body found in the fire that she might take the ashes with her to Germany, is under arrest.

However, Mrs. Brenn is spurring
the police to pursue the less plausible alternative that her husband had made captive last Monday night
a girl armed masked men who robbed the grave that night, placed
the girl's body in the garage and set fire to the place to hide their crime.
Brenn had reported to the Laclede station police early on the same night that he had been robbed of $16,000 by six masked men who had taken him on a repair job along Highway Road in the vicinity of the garage, and had carried him up
in an automobile to the city limits, where they dumped him out. Some corroboration of this has been had from the recital of a woman that she had observed six rough looking men digging in an automobile in Mount Hope Cemetery last Sunday afternoon.

Body Identified as Girl's.
Only the torso of the body taken from the garage ruins remains, but the identification as that of Miss Celestine Schneider, 18 years old, of 1917 South Broadway, who died of measles on last Aug. 30, rests
upon the following facts:

The autopsy physician of the cruiser has determined that the body is that of a young woman,
and contained embalming fluid.
A piece of a shroud remained on the body when it was taken from the garage ruins.

A spade, with dirt of the character of the earth in the cemetery,
was in the fire debris.
The undertaker who officiated
at Miss Schneider's funeral has identified the piece of shroud as of the same material, color and crepe,
as the shrouds he commonly uses for the bodies of women, and the tassels attached to the remnant taken from the fire are similar to the tassels on the shrouds he uses.
The undertaker also declared that he commonly makes incisions
in the bodies in the embalming process
at a different point than usual with other undertakers. He located upon the body taken from the fire an incision in the location and of the character he made in the body of Miss Schneider.

Insists Body Is Brenn's.
Meanwhile, Mrs. Brenn, whose acquaintance at some time with any plot of her husband to collect insurance in the unusual manner indicated, would be imperative for success, denies the existence of such conspiracy, and steadfastly declares that the body found in the fire is that of her husband.
"If this is not so, then show me
my husband," she demands.
In fact, Mrs. Brenn matched wits with Chief of Detectives Hoagland and members of the Homicide Squad
for two hours at Police Headquarters last night and the only certainty reached by the officers was that she was "a mighty smart witness."

She is a type of the middle-class German girl, is 22 years old and has been in America two years. At times
she was a pathetic figure with her 11-month-old son clasped to her bosom and to whom she murmured
"schuetzen" (little treasure) when it stirred in her arms. Her high cheeks are tanned, her blonde hair
unburned and her slight figure bent in the chair as if in weariness. She has been accustomed to working with her husband and neighbors say that as she sold gasoline and soft drinks
to automobile parties on the road,
the baby always was of her arm.

Answers to Questions.
Her moods under questioning ranged from resignation to flashing scorn as she parried questions with other questions designed to reveal absurdity in the theories broached to her.

The officers sought to learn from her if she disliked America and longed for the fatherland.
"If your loved ones were over there, wouldn't you long sometimes?" she replied through an interpreter.
But it seemed as if this service
was unnecessary, for at the next question, "did you not send for a picture of the Kaiser?" without waiting for interpretation of the question, she flashed out:
"Schucks, to hell mit the Kaiser."
And when it was suggested that fort near here, on the Gulf of Genoa, is believed to have been killed in an explosion, caused by lightning,

which destroyed everything within a radius of 10 miles. There are many hundreds of wounded.

Seventy bodies have already been recovered in the debris. Fifteen hundred tons of explosives were stored in the deep tunnels of the fort. The entire top of the hill on which it is located was blown away. The work of recovering additional dead is proceeding. No estimate has yet been made of their number.

The wounded are being rushed to hospitals here, all of which are already filled.

Military forces have been assigned to the work of rescue.
All fascists of the Province of Genova have been mobilized by their chiefs to assist the soldiers. The explosion occurred in a violent storm
which damaged the crops and property of the inhabitants for large areas along the coast. Half crazed with terror and the storm, the despairing population is being relieved through governmental care.

The towns of San Terenzo and Pitelli are greatly damaged.

San Terenzo is on the shore of the Gulf of Spezia and is across the bay from Spezia. Pitelli is an inland town about two miles from San Terenzo. The whole of the coast line in this section forms the south part of the Gulf of Genoa, the Gulf of Spezia being included in it.

Explosion Caused by Lightning
Striking Magazine.

By the Associated Press.
GENOA, Sept. 28.—An explosion caused by lightning, which it appears, struck the magazine, today destroyed the Falcagnara Fort near San Terenzo, on the Gulf of Genoa, and wrecked the town, killing and wounding many persons. The wounded were taken to the hospital in Spezia nearby. Apparently many sailors are among the victims.

FORD INDOREMENT TABLED

By the Associated Press.
RAY CITY, Mich., Sept. 28.—The Resolutions Committee of the Democratic State Committee decided this afternoon not to endorse Henry Ford
for the presidency "at this time."
A resolution proposing such indorsement was rejected on the ground that "the indorsement would be premature and too far in advance of 1924 election."

night, killing two young girls, was

"LEFT TURN" ELIMINATION PLAN POSTPONED PENDING HEARING

Opposition From District Affects Cause of Open Meeting on Mayor's Office Next Tuesday.

Plans to eliminate "left turns" in traffic in the downtown congested district have been postponed pending
a conference in Mayor Kiel's office
next Tuesday on traffic conditions.
Director Fisk of the Department of Streets and Sewers had announced that a "left turn" regulation
would be effective Oct. 1.

Considerable opposition to this move has developed. Fisk said today, particularly from hotels, department stores and the Chamber of Commerce. The proposed district in which this regulation would be effective is bounded on the north by Franklin avenue, east by Fourth street, south by Market street and west by Twelfth boulevard. All interested in the traffic situation are invited to the meeting next Tuesday.

The condition of Miss Mae Best,
only student considered seriously ill
today, was described by physicians
as "very grave." Miss Sarah Best, her sister, who was violently ill during the night, was said to have passed the crisis and would recover.

Four of 21 teachers stricken were unable to resume their duties today.
It was stated that the Woodlawn Cafeteria is operated by the Woodlawn School Improvement Association, an organization of patrons of the school.

FRENCH LINER SAFELY PASSES THROUGH MID-OCEAN TORNADO

Lafayette Captain Herded All Below
Decks for 24 Hours—Iceberg
In Her Path.

By the Associated Press.
NEW YORK, Sept. 28.—The French liner Lafayette, from Havre, reached port yesterday, after having passed through a tornado in mid-ocean. Mounting seas greatly impeded the progress of the vessel and caused Capt. Brevet to herd everyone
below decks for 24 hours.

To the thrill of the storm was added the presence of a huge iceberg seen. Mounting seas greatly impeded the progress of the vessel and
caused Capt. Brevet to herd everyone
below decks for 24 hours.

The Aquitania, which encountered
the storm area yesterday in mid-
trip here, was reported by officials of the Cunard line to have passed through it without mishap. She is due Friday.

KEMAL PASHA REFUSES TO RECOGNIZE NEUTRAL ZONE

Nationalist Leader's Reply to Gen. Harington's Warning Against Violation of Area
at Straits Considered in London to Be Evasive and Ambiguous.

BRITISH REGARD
SITUATION AS SERIOUS

Harington, However, Is Told
to Use Own Judgment Regarding Necessity of Fighting to Maintain Edicts to the Turks.

By the Associated Press.

LONDON, Sept. 28.—British Government circles today took a grave
view of the situation in the Dardanelles, which is regarded as so critical as to overshadow the revolutionary developments in Greece.
The opinion is expressed that there is a greater prospect of fighting between the British and Turkish nationalists than at any previous time.
The abdication of King Constantine of Greece making again possible
co-operation between Prime Minister Lloyd George and former Premier Venizelos, may cause a lightning change in Great Britain's policy toward the Turks, according to well-informed circles here today.

The cabinet was convened this morning to consider a message from British General Sir Charles Harington, commanding the Allied forces
in Constantinople, summarizing Mustapha Kemal Pasha's reply to Gen. Harington's warning against violation of the neutral zone along the straits. The reply was considered to be evasive and ambiguous.

At the close of this afternoon's meeting of the cabinet, it was stated that situation was regarded as increasingly critical. "A third meeting of the cabinet will be held this evening."

Views of Situation.
Two views may be taken of Mustapha
Kemal's intentions. It is stated.
One is that under the cover of his cavalry he may be bringing up artillery and material and doing all he can to compel the British to fire
the first shot. The less serious view is that he is truthful in his statement that he does not know where the neutral zone extends.

It is pointed out that Gen. Harington is laboring under tremendous responsibility. He has been told to do all possible to avoid war, but to use his own judgment regarding the necessity of fighting to maintain the British edicts. It is understood he has the full backing of the Government, which will support any action
he takes.

Kemalists' Zone Attitude.
In his reply Mustapha Kemal says
the Ankara government does not recognize any neutral zone. He complains about the Greek warships
which have been anchored near Constantinople and also about the action of the British troops in the region around Chanak on the southern shore of the straits. Allegations are made that the British have destroyed Turkish roads and Turkish homes.

Mustapha Kemal also claims the right to cross the so-called neutral zone and to enter Eastern Thrace
where he claims the Greeks are killing the Turkish inhabitants. He concludes by saying he hopes to avoid any conflict with the British.

Reported Draft of Turkish Reply to Allies.

By the Associated Press.
SMYRNA, Sept. 28.—Yusuf Kemal Bey, the Nationalist Foreign Minister, left for Ankara yesterday
with the draft of the Nationalists'
reply to the allied peace proposals.
It is understood to embrace the following conditions:

1. Prior to the opening of the peace conference the Nationalists shall occupy all strategic points, in order to achieve the provision of the Nationalist pact regarding Thrace.

2. All British forces now en route shall be recalled and the British shall abstain from fortifying the neutral zones.

3. The Nationalists shall occupy

REPUBLIC WANTED BY TROOPS; CONSTANTINE REPORTED PRISONER

Constantine in Message Says He Is Happy to Sacrifice Himself

ATHENS, Sept. 28.—
CONSTANTINE addressed
the following message to the Greek people:
"Yielding to the solemnly expressed will of the Greek people,
I returned to Greece in December, 1920, and resumed my royal duties. I declared then, and took a solemn oath, that I would respectfully observe the articles of the constitution.

"This declaration corresponded both with my private desire and that of the Greek people, as well as the international interests of our country. Within the limits of the constitution I did everything humanly possible for the defense of the interests of the nation.

Hopes for Victory.
"Today, regrettable misfortunes
have led our country into a critical situation, but Greece, as in so many other instances in the course of her centuries long history, will again overcome her difficulties and will continue on her glorious and brilliant path,
provided she faces the danger
with a united front and is assisted by her powerful friends.

"Not wishing to leave in the mind of anybody the slightest suspicion that, by remaining on the throne, I have prevented to however a slight degree, the sacred unity of the Greeks and the assistance of some friends, I have abdicated the royal power.

Urges Support for Son.
"From this moment, my eldest son, Prince George, is your King.
I am sure the entire nation will rally around him, will assist him
with all its forces and the cost of all sacrifices, in his difficult work.

"As for myself I am happy that another opportunity has been given me to sacrifice myself
once more for Greece, and I shall be still happier when I see my people, whom I have so much loved, surround their new King with perfect concord and lead the fatherland to fresh glory and fresh greatness.

"My sacrifice is slight. I am prepared to fight at the head of the army in the interests of the country if the Greek Government and people should consider such service useful to the fatherland."

President Considering Appointments
New Might Go to Porto Rico.

his advisers today to be giving con-

who failed of renomination.

It was said Senator New might be-succeed E. Mont Rely, in the event of the latter's resignation.

Soldiers Join Crowds in Streets of Athens in Pro-
Venizelist Demonstration

Provisional Revolutionary Committee Has Taken

DISTURBERS WARNED
BY THE COMMITTEE

Constantine's Abdication in Favor of Crown Prince Came When Mob Surrounding Palace Made Threats to Seize Sovereign.

By the Associated Press.

CONSTANTINOPLE, Sept. 28.—
Former King Constantine of Greece, who abdicated yesterday, is reported to have been imprisoned by the revolutionaries
in Athens.

By the Associated Press.
ATHENS, Sept. 28.—The first phase of the Greek revolution has ended with the abdication of King Constantine in favor of Crown Prince George.

Colonels Piastiras and Gonatas, leaders in the revolution, entered Athens today at the head of their troops and were received with enthusiasm.

It is reported that a section of the revolutionary army is imbued with the idea of a republic and that the accession of King George may be accompanied with some difficulties.

At 8 o'clock last night the city
was brilliantly illuminated, and cavalry and infantry were patrolling the streets.

The revolutionists are proceeding
with the formation of a government.
The troops arrived from their long march dead tired, some of them carrying machine guns on their shoulders.

Pro-Venizelist Demonstration.
An impressive pro-Venizelist demonstration occurred in the city last night. Thousands of persons, including some of the troops, paraded the streets singing and acclaiming Veniz-elos and waving portraits of the former Premier. The throng marched to the French legation crying "Viva France."

The revolutionists have entered the city and occupied all the strategic points and the ministries.

A provisional revolutionary committee, has been formed and has issued the following proclamation:
"An accord having been reached with the Triantafylakos Government, which resigned, the provisional revolutionary committee will assume power with the least possible delay.

"Until now it has been relying for the maintenance of order and the protection of all citizens without distinction upon the patriotism of the Hellenes and the ardent desire of the people for reconciliation and bridging over the chasm, a desire the revolutionary party espouses.

"Disturbers of order to whatever political party they belong, will be punished in accordance with revolutionary justice."

Mob Surrounding Palace.
King Constantine's abdication came after dramatic scenes with the palace surrounded by an angry mob of revolutionists demanding his dethronement.

It was not until the mob threatened to seize the person of the governing that an emissary appeared at a window of the palace and announced the abdication.

General Papoulas previously had been sent to treat with the revolutionists, but, finding his entreaties
unavailing, joined their cause himself. The government then sent a second envoy, but the mob was obdurate, declaring: "We are resolved to dethrone the author of Greece's misery."

CITIZENS KILL 2, CAPTURE 3, BANK ROBBERS IN FIGHT

Gang Met by Fusillade When They Leave Eureka Springs Bank With $70,000 in Cash and Bonds.

CONSTABLE 'GETS MAN' IN FACE-TO-FACE FIRE

Groups in Arkansas Town Recounting Today Thrilling Gun Battle With Men Trapped by Signal.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.
EUREKA SPRINGS, Ark., Sept. 28.—Groups of citizens continued to gather in the business district here today to discuss yesterday's bank robbery and the subsequent gun fight in the street in which two of the five members of the gang were killed and the three others wounded and captured.

Nothing ever has occurred in the history of this town, tucked away in the Ozark hills, that has caused as much excitement. Throngs poured into the business district yesterday after news of the fight spread, and for hours commercial affairs remained at a standstill. The people talked of nothing else. The crowd grew as the hours wore on and by night the town was filled. Farmers and residents of nearby towns came by auto, wagon and rail. Literally hundreds viewed the bodies of the two dead robbers, Ray Wilson and George Price, while hundreds of others in vain sought admission at the hospital where the three wounded robbers, Charles Price, brother of the dead man; Mark Hendricks and Jack Cowan, were taken.

A coroner's jury, called three hours after the gun fight, quickly returned a verdict that the dead were victims of justifiable homicide. The jury was composed, in part, of men who took part in the battle.

Authorities have been unable thus far to obtain statements from the three wounded men except to ascertain their places of residence. All said they lived in Oklahoma and their two dead companions were also from that state.

Details of Fight Unfold.
Dispatches last night from Muskogee said the five members of the old Henry Starr gang that for years terrorized the Southwest with their daylight raids on banks. It was at Harrison, Ark., not a great distance from the scene of the fight, that the Starr gang had been shot down in an attempted bank robbery that took place about a year ago.

Details of the gun fight began to unfold today. It was learned that the robbers realized they would be forced to fight before they left the bank with the $70,000 in cash and bonds in Liberty Bonds they had secured. When they were forced to fight, they held a hurried conference. R. D. Smith, cashier of the bank, and P. M. Sawyer, assistant cashier, were summoned and forced to go to the street directly in front of the four robbers. The fifth, Cowan, had been left in the auto in which the gang expected to escape. Citizens did not open fire at once for fear they would wound the bank officials. As the center of the street was reached, however, Smith broke and ran. Almost simultaneously Sawyer fired. Instantly the citizens began to fire. The battle continued for five minutes. When the smoke had cleared the robbers were lying dead and there. None of the citizens was wounded.

Eight Wounds in Body.
Wilson's body contained eight bullet wounds. He fell as he fought with Robert Bowman, a hotel clerk, and Joseph McKinney, an attorney. These two men heard the burglar alarm that sounded in three different places when Cashier Smith pressed a button with his foot as the robbers ordered him and others in the bank to hold up their hands. The fifth, Cowan, in a hotel, a bank a block from the scene and the telephone office.

George Price, the other dead robber, was killed by Constable Britton. When Britton ordered Price to hold up his hands the latter, who was carrying most of the loot, dropped his revolver and fled. Britton's revolver was empty by this time and he picked up the fleeing bandit's weapon and shot him down.

Charles Price, brother of George Price, who is believed to be fatally wounded and whose death was reported erroneously in the Post-Dispatch yesterday, was shot down as he ran from the bank. It is believed he fell a victim to a bullet from a weapon in the hands of Joe McKinney, an attorney, with offices over the bank, who appeared at the window in his office with a revolver at the sound of the shooting. He had a bullet through the abdomen and another through his leg. Physicians who operated said he has a "fighting chance."

Hand-to-Hand Fight.
Hendricks was shot down by Britton in an almost hand-to-hand fight in the street, witnessed by hundreds of citizens. Walking toward one another, the Constable and the robber stood shot after shot at each other. No shot fired at close range by the robber from an army style .45 automatic struck the officer. On the other hand, each of the six shots fired by Britton found its mark. Five of the bullet pellets struck Hendricks in the chest, and still he had walked into the faces of the offi-

Former U. S. Battleship Idaho Figure in Start of Revolution

By the Associated Press.
ATHENS, Sept. 28.—The former American battleship Idaho, now the Greek Lennos, that started the Greek revolution in 1913 Greece bought the Idaho and Mississippi. The Idaho was named Lennos after the naval victory against the Turks in 1912 off the island of Lemnos. The Mississippi was named the Kilos, after a famous battle against the Bulgarians.

cer's fire. The sixth shot struck only an inch above the bandit's belt buckle and he crumpled to the street amid the cheers of the onlookers.

Cowan was wounded and captured as he fled from the scene before his accomplices emerged from the bank, taking with him the car which they had driven to the bank, their only means of escape. He drove almost a half block from the bank, located near the Basin Park Hotel, where a clerk was lying in wait with a gun, when he fell victim to shots fired from shotguns by Jess Litterel, a confectioner, and Sam Harmon, a taxi driver. The bandit car veered and crashed into a telephone pole.

caused no surprise, but some apprehension in the French political world, for whatever may be the development of the insurrectional movement in Greece, it is bound to complicate still further the already serious situation in the Near East.

The Turks, it is believed, certain, regard events at Athens as a supreme effort on the part of Greece to relieve the situation by the return of Venizelos, and the resumption of the Greek offensive in Thrace. It is even announced from Athens that the Kemalists are about to take steps to safeguard the Mussulmans in Thrace during the insurrection. These circumstances furnish fresh reasons for Nationalist agitation.

Much is hoped for from the counsel of prudence and moderation to be extended by Franklin-Bouillon, who is due to arrive in Smyrna today. Kemal Pasha, the Nationalist leader, is understood to have announced that he will take no decisive steps until he has heard Franklin-Bouillon's views. Neither the abdication of Constantine nor the return of Venizelos can, it is maintained here, modify the decision of the Allies which they promised Thrace to the Turks in the interests of peace, and not as a bribe against the king.

The Greek insurrection, it is asserted here in official circles, does not justify and cannot bring about any change in the policy solemnly formulated by the three great powers in respect to Turkey, but it is essential that Turkey should not compromise the position by taking military measures on the European shore of the straits. Such a mistake in tactics, it is said, would be bound to have a serious effect on the course of the negotiations.

VENIZELLOS SILENT ON GREEK REVOLT

By the Associated Press.
PARIS, Sept. 28.—"I wish to be considered as dead," was the reply of Eleutherios Venizelos to a question as to the part he might play under the new government in Greece, says the Deauville correspondent of the Petit Parisien. Forty-five other correspondents had telegraphed to the former Premier, asking to be received, but his reply to all was not to trouble to visit him.

M. Venizelos maintains the same impenetrable reserve even with his intimate friends. The first news of the Greek revolution and Constantine's abdication came while he was at lunch, and one of his friends could not resist asking: "What would you do if asked to resume office?"

Venizelos merely said: "Take some more hors d'oeuvres," but his voice shook, betraying the depth of his emotion. One had only to look at his face to realize that the vindication of the party leader, had not obliterated the sorrow of the patriot.

His family, who know the depth of the wound caused by the collapse of his dreams of greatness for his country are careful to refrain from discussing Greece or the Near East in his presence. When by accident a word slips out, Venizelos keeps silent.

sources in Athens. An Athens dispatch timed 12:10 p. m. yesterday said Crown Prince George would take the oath during the afternoon. Nothing later was received to show that this program was carried out.

There is no word as to the whereabouts of Constantine.

Both Athens and Saloniki are reported to be quiet and under control of revolutionaries. It is too early to estimate the direction the revolution is taking, but in authoritative circles it is looked upon as tending to support former Premier Venizelos.

The report that Prince Paul, youngest son of former King Constantine of Greece, is a prisoner of revolutionists on board the school ship Elli is without foundation, according to a Reuter dispatch.

CONSTANTINE, TWICE ON THRONE, HAS HAD A STORMY CAREER

By the Associated Press.
Constantine twice occupied the throne of Greece. His first reign began March 18, 1913, with the assassination of his father, George I. It continued until June, 1917, when he was forced by the demands of Great Britain, France and Russia to abdicate because of his German sympathies.

He was succeeded by his second son, Alexander, who was nominated by the deposed monarch and who had promised to carry out Constantine's policies despite allied demands to the contrary. For three stormy years, Alexander reigned in name only. Then his tragic death in 1920, due to the bite of a pet monkey, again turned the spotlight on Constantine, who had spent the intervening three years in exile with his large family.

His 1920 Triumph.

A plotter had shown that the Greek nation was insistent upon the return of Constantine to the throne, and while the allied Governments continued to exert every pressure at their command to prevent his return, the former King marched triumphantly into Athens and was crowned in December, 1920, amid scenes of the wildest enthusiasm.

Constantine was born Aug. 3, 1868, and obtained his education under German tutors and army officers. Once, in 1909, he was dismissed as commander of the Greek army because of popular clamor against him, but he became a national hero in the Balkan war of 1912, when he led a Greek army in the capture of Saloniki from the Turks. In consequence of this achievement, he was accorded the popular title of "The Liberator."

Prince Was Pro-German.

Prince George is the eldest son of Constantine. He also was pro-German and was excluded from succession by the allied terms which compelled his father's abdication in 1917. He accompanied the royal party to Asia Minor in 1921 and was a member of the staff of the Greek commander, Gen. Papoulas. George was born in July, 1890, and married Princess Elizabeth of Rumania in the spring of 1921. The only other child of the staff of the Greek commander, Gen. Papoulas, was born in December, 1891.

While Prince George has been regarded as their apparent successor, the deposed monarch has four other brothers who were considered eligible for kingship honors. ## Russia's Belligerent Attitude Called Diplomatic Pose.

MOSCOW, Sept. 28.—The Communist International, which hitherto has kept quiet during diplomatic maneuvering, yesterday issued an appeal to the proletariat of all countries demanding "peace with the Turkish people" and declaring "the wish of European imperialists." ## Report Wilhelm Visited Fiancee Causes Near Riot

Workers in Vicinity of Hermine's Castle Demand Former Kaiser When They Hear He Arrived by Airplane.

(Copyright, 1922.)
BERLIN, Sept. 28.—A rumor that the former Kaiser had arrived by airplane, at the castle of his fiancée, Princess Hermine, at Saabor, Silesia, almost led to a riot at the castle by workers from Grunberg and the surrounding towns.

A delegation yesterday morning presented themselves at the castle and demanded the Princess deliver Wilhelm to them. Frightened servants rushed to inform Hermine of the demands and the threatening attitude of the workers, who insisted they knew the former ruler was inside and had been hidden.

Hermine remained cool, declared Wilhelm was not anywhere near Saabor, and explained the rumor probably started because of an airplane accident that occurred Sunday near the castle. She showed the workers the wreck of the plane, which had been brought to the courtyard.

The workers finally left, but the strike which was called the night before when the rumor of the ex-

Kaiser's return began to circulate, lasted all day.

The aviators whose accident caused all the excitement were only slightly hurt.

The Princess is busy liquidating her estate in preparation for her marriage. She has sold one of her cars, and the servants have been given notice. She will take only her best car, a maid and a valet to Doorn, where, the Post-Dispatch correspondent learns, she will occupy the suite in which the former Kaiser lived.

Hermine has rented the farms on her estate until her eldest son reached his majority. She will not be occupied constantly with business details, all of which she handled.

She still receives many letters daily protesting against her marriage. She is also visited by dozens of relatives, acquaintances and other German nobles who ask her not to marry Wilhelm. She is forced to receive all these visitors, but she tells them it is her own affair.

"I'm fed up with the whole business," she exclaims.

How The BRENN-SCHNEIDER CASES SOLVED DETECTIVES' HUN

Homicide Squad, Confronting on Motive for Guilt, Robbery, Found Revolver or Dissection Were Probable.

SAW A POSSIBLE EXPLANATION IN F

Autopsy Surgeon at Doubtful Their Theory. Incision in Torso Qui Unraveled Mystery.

Credit for solution of the Brennan-Schneider cases goes to the homicide squad, composed of Detectives Paul Girard, Joseph Leary, Charles Shelton. They displayed the fact that the charred body of a girl and not that of a man, they gave the following account of their work to a Post-Dispatch reporter:

They were in South St. Louis, near the intersection of the shooting of John Grivet of 6913 N. 10th avenue, when they learned of the theft of Miss Schneider's body from the morgue. After a search of the city, they found the body of a girl, which they identified as that of Miss Schneider. They learned that Miss Schneider had died from tuberculosis and that she had no enemies.

The idea that the theft of the body might be connected with the Brennan-Schneider case presented a "hunch." The detectives went to the Hoffmeister undertaking at 1814 South Broadway and found the charred body of a girl in a garage. Its appearance was the flames having consumed it, that they, as laymen, were to determine the sex.

Yesterday morning they confronted Dr. T. L. Carriere, Coroner's autopsy surgeon, and told him they had to have the sex of the body determined. They informed Dr. Carriere of the body of the girl, which they had found in the garage. He examined the body and told them their hunch was correct. He agreed to accede to their request and to perform an autopsy.

After making an incision in the abdomen, Dr. Carriere discovered a mass of embalming fluid, and in the detectives' said: "I believe the body is that of a woman; a young woman, at that."

The detectives, after talking to Coroner Bracy of St. Louis to continue the investigation, to the Brennan home at Oak Canton crepe decorated with silk cord, later identified the undertakers, who had buried the body, as being of similar build and several letters to her indicated that she was contemplating a trip to Germany.

How Theft of Girl's Body From Grave and Disappearance of Garage Man Were Connected

Brenn Asked for Double Indemnity on His Insurance

Very Persistent in Requests, Say Agents of Companies That Had Recently Sold Policies to Him.

Homicide Squad, Concentrating on Motive for Grave Robbery, Found Revenge or Dissection Were Improbable.

SAW A POSSIBLE EXPLANATION IN FIRE

Autopsy Surgeon at First Doubt Their Theory, but Incision in Torso Quickly Unraveled Mystery.

Credit for solution of the Brenn-Schneider case goes to the police homicide squad, composed of Detectives Paul Girard, Joseph Lesyna and Charles Shelton. They displayed rare initiative. After they had established the fact that the charred body was that of a girl and not that of Brenn, they gave the following account of their work to a Post-Dispatch reporter.

They were in South St. Louis Tuesday night investigating the fatal shooting of John Grivet of 6323 Ida avenue, when they learned of the theft of Miss Schneider's body from a grave and the subsequent arrest of her father as suspect. After obtaining from Schneider an account of his movements on Monday, when the body was stolen, they later verified it and concluded that he was not implicated in the theft.

Possible Motives Discussed. The detectives then discussed possible motives for the theft of Miss Schneider's body. They eliminated the theory that dissection or revenge was the motive, as such motives were such flames having consumed most of the body. They were unable to determine the sex.

Yesterday morning they conferred with Dr. T. L. Carriere, coroner's autopsy surgeon, and told him they desired to have the sex of the body at the undertaker's establishment. When informed Dr. Carriere of their decision that the body might be that of Miss Schneider, he expressed doubt and told them their theory seemed to him to be far-fetched. However, he agreed to accompany them to the undertaker's and perform an autopsy.

After making an incision in the abdomen, Dr. Carriere detected the odor of embalming fluid, and turning to the detectives, said: "I believe you are on the right trail. This body was prepared for burial before it was burned."

A moment later, after having examined some vital organs in the body, Dr. Carriere remarked: "You are right. This is not the body of a man; it is that of a woman, and a young woman, at that."

Incision in Stomach Found. Another conclusive point in the identification of the charred torso was that of Miss Schneider was observed by the detectives when the undertaker who had prepared her for burial. He called attention to a mark from an incision in the stomach near where Dr. Carriere had made an incision for the autopsy, and said that was where he had injected embalming fluid. Into the side of a body, but not into the stomach, is through the stomach. Although he was not able to state positively that it was Miss Schneider's body, he was sure it was the body of someone whom he had known.

The detectives, after telephoning the coroner Bracy of St. Louis County to continue the inquest, motored to the Brenn home at Oakville and entered the garage. Delving into the debris they found a piece of a cream-colored dress decorated with a bit of silk cord, later identified by Miss Schneider, as being of similar make to that from which her shroud had been made. They also found a small, the handle of which had been wrapped with earth resembling the soil in the grave from which Miss Schneider's body had been stolen.

Found Clothing Packed. Mrs. Brenn was not at home. Neighbors said she had left early in the morning with her baby, saying she was going to town to purchase mourning apparel for herself. The room in the small cottage had been packed in suit and several letters addressed to her indicated that she had been contemplating a trip to her former home in Germany.

Working on the theory that Brenn had died and that the collection of insurance money was the motive, the detectives made inquiry and learned that he had carried inquiry by a Post-Dispatch reporter today disclosed that Harry Brenn had sought to have incorporated in the two life insurance policies for $5000 taken out by him in the last five months, a clause providing double indemnity in case of accidental death. He was insistent, representatives of the companies said, until convinced that the agents were not permitted to write such policies for a man in his occupation. The companies will hold up payment pending further inquiries, it is understood.

Brenn's wife is said to have informed neighbors that a war risk insurance policy, presumably for $10,000, was destroyed in the garage fire. Brenn, in his application for the first of the recent policies, stated that he carried no other insurance.

Asked for Double Indemnity. This first policy, a joint one for $1000 on the life of himself and wife, payable to the survivor, was written by a local agent of a Davenport, Inc. company on May 17. The agent said the policy was sold on his own solicitation and not that of Brenn, but that a single conversation with Brenn was all that was needed to close the transaction.

Brenn at that time asked for the insurance policies for $16,000. One policy for $5000 was taken out last July, another for $1000 was taken out last May. The third was a war risk policy for $10,000 issued by the United States Government to men who served in the world war.

The detectives also recalled that Brenn had called at the Laclede Avenue Police Station at 9 o'clock Monday night, three hours before the garage fire, and reported that he had been slugged and robbed on the Telegraph road, in the county. They concluded, in view of the fact that it was not Brenn's body that had been burned in the garage, that he had a motive for reporting to the St. Louis police that he had been robbed in the county. Persons living near the cemetery had informed the detectives that Miss Schneider's body evidently was stolen between 8 and 9 o'clock Monday night. They based the conclusion on the fact that a dog in the neighborhood barked vociferously at that time.

Examination of the casket from which Miss Schneider's body had been taken convinced the detectives that one person had robbed the body. They reached this conclusion when they found finger prints at only one end of the casket. They deducted that if more than one person had handled the body, there would have been finger prints at both ends. Their theory regarding the manner in which the casket was taken from the grave was that it had been raised and stood upon end before being lifted from the grave.

Dog Probably Used Plans. The detectives, in commenting, said that had the casket been returned to the grave, after the theft of the body, and the grave refilled, the crime probably never would have been discovered. They reasoned that it had been the original intention of the grave robber to do that, but that the barking of the dogs perhaps caused him to change his plans and hurry away with the body.

Another point considered by the detectives was why Miss Schneider's grave had been singled out by someone desiring to destroy a body for the evident purpose of having it appear that some other person had been burned to death. They found a possible explanation for this in the fact that her grave had been freshly dug and, therefore, was easy to re-open. The perpetrator, they argued, evidently had surveyed the cemetery previously to Monday night, and had noted that the temporary mound on the Schneider grave had not yet settled to the level of the surrounding ground.

Efforts to trace the movements of Brenn, following his trip to the Laclede Avenue Police station at 9 p. m. Monday, occupied the attention of the detectives while they were searching for Mrs. Brenn. They were unable to find anyone who had seen him after that time. Mrs. Brenn said he had not returned home when she closed the garage a few minutes before midnight and retired. Ten or 15 minutes later, she said, she discovered the garage in flames and later a torso was found which she had accepted as the charred remains of her husband, and had ordered it cremated, with the intention of taking the ashes back to Germany.

double indemnity clause, but was told he could not have it. About two months ago, around the time he took out a $5000 policy, payable to his wife, with a Kansas City company, he again sought to have the extra payment provision inserted in the $1000 policy.

Policy Solicited by Company. The $5000 policy was taken out July 31, solicitation in this instance also being by the company's agent, and the transaction being closed within a short time. The double indemnity clause was insisted upon by Brenn until convinced the agent could not write such a policy.

No effort has yet been made to collect on the policies. The State manager of the Davenport company said yesterday the fullest investigation would be made by the company before payment would be considered. Detectives have advised holding up payment.

Her husband was good to her, she said, and she scoffed at the police suggestion that "she knew he was tired of her and the baby and was going to leave her." "Bring her here," she demanded. This was her insistent demand throughout the questioning, whenever any charge implicating her with any plot was suggested. She wanted to be presented with the fact.

"Then Show Me My Husband." She was told that a physician had determined that the body in the fire was not that of a man. She was shaken, but when asked if she did not believe this to be the fact, replied: "Show me my husband." "If you are good police officers," she added, "you will find those six men."

She could not be made to change the story of her movements and of those of her husband on the day of the fire. They had been in Illinois together and had just returned to their garage on the Telegraph road, when her husband received a call, he told her, for a repair job "up the road."

Waked Until About Midnight. He departed. She was the last to see him, she said, though as the night wore on and he did not return, she went in an automobile with a neighbor up and down the road to look for him. Across the road from the garage Brenn had erected a small stand for the sale of soft drinks and gasoline. She kept the stand open, while waiting, until about midnight Monday, then went up the cross-road to their two-room cottage to go to bed. At 12:30 a. m. Tuesday she was the first to give the alarm of fire. She ran from the house, screaming and calling her husband's name.

"Why did you cry that your husband was burned, before you ever reached the fire?" she was asked by police officers.

"You're telling me gossip," she replied. Mrs. Brenn was arrested at 5:15 p. m. yesterday in a dry goods store at 7519 South Broadway, where she was purchasing mourning clothes for the funeral of her husband which she had arranged for today. She had driven from Oakville with a couple of her husband and his wife and visited an Evangelical Lutheran minister and the Laclede Avenue Police Station on her way back towards home. However, she wished to spend the night with friends at 118 Nagel avenue and there the detectives learned of her departure for the store, which was just around the corner. She was removed at the appearance of the officers and asked only to be taken home to get her hat.

After the questioning she was turned over to a St. Louis County Deputy Sheriff, who drove her to Clayton. "I have told you the truth," she said to the St. Louis officers in parting. "I am not guilty."

Did Not Visit Undertaker's. Mrs. Albert Huegel, who accompanied her on her visit to the minister and the police station, said that her demeanor throughout the day indicated grief, and that she and her husband accordingly refrained from questions. "However," she said, "we thought the place she would want to go would be the undertaker's to look at the body, but she did not suggest it."

It had been determined that the car on which the body in the garage rested after the fire was that of which Brenn drove to the Laclede Avenue Police Station on the night of the fire to report that he had been robbed.

Some Chatter Among Residents of Oakville. A disclosure caused some chatter among the residents of Oakville, particularly members of the coroner's jury. After the fire there was immediate desire to add Mrs. Brenn financially. A subscription list was posted in the village general store and few who entered neglected to place their names upon it. The six men comprising the coroner's jury donated the fees of the cents apiece to her. In all $11.75 had been raised, when the appearance of detectives and their statement that Brenn had not perished in the fire caused an abrupt halt to the flow of charity.

Loyal Vaughn, 1224 High street, Detroit, a brother of the missing Brenn, arrived today with the expectation of attending the funeral of his brother. When he learned of the developments in the case he volunteered to join the homicide squad in the investigation and accompanied detectives to the ruins of the garage.

DENIES ROW OVER GIRL'S INSURANCE Mrs. Schneider, mother of the girl whose body was stolen from its grave, told a Post-Dispatch reporter last night that her husband had never quarreled with her over the $400 insurance paid to her at her daughter's death, although, a police officer said, although a police officer had announced that she had told them that her husband had predicted she would have "bad luck" if she did not pay him a part of the money. She denied making such a statement to police.

Gus (the father of the girl) didn't know I got the money," said Mrs. Schneider. "He never said a word to me about it. The last time I saw him was a week ago last Sunday evening. He had been drinking, and I argued with him to quit drinking. He would not promise to do so, and said if I continued to bother him about it, I would have bad luck. 'You've had bad luck already,' he said, 'but you'll have a durned sight worse if you don't stop.'"

Los Angeles Export Improvements. By the Associated Press. LOS ANGELES, Cal., Sept. 28.—Plans for establishing three new toll refineries and export loading stations at Los Angeles Harbor were made known today by the Harbor Commission. The Mexican Petroleum Co., the Pan-American Petroleum Co. and the Ventura Oil Co., approximately will spend $10,000,000.

DOG BELIEVED TO HAVE ROUTED GRAVE ROBBER

Barking Thought to Have Frightened Ghouls Who Fleed Without Covering Up Traces.

The barking dog, which so alarmed the person or persons who robbed the grave of Miss Schneider in Mount Hope cemetery Monday night, that they fled without refilling the grave, was that of August Heidman, sexton of Mount Hope cemetery, which adjoins Mount Hope.

Had the grave been refilled, disturbance of it would not have been detected, as it originally was freshly made. Heidman's dog began barking about 8:30 p. m. Heidman noticed the fact, but retired. The dog kept up its barking until Heidman, sensing some unusual cause for the dog's usual actions, got out of bed and dressed. He took a flashlight, the keys of which were particularly powerful for such a light, and went outside. He quieted the dog and went entirely around the house, throwing the beams here and there. Then he went to a pig pen at some distance from the house and threw the light about there.

Grave Near Heidman House. The grave of Miss Schneider was about 300 yards east of the Heidman house. The belief is that the barking of the dog and the rays of light playing about the darkness caused those about the grave to become frightened and to flee with the body, leaving the casket behind in a clump of weeds.

The grave was on one of the high spots of the cemetery about 200 yards from the main entrance at May Ferry and Mount Olive roads. The body of Joseph, 13, a son, which had been buried in a single plot in May, 1920, was re-buried the month the lot was purchased. Colossine was buried in the grave adjoining his. When robbers dug in her grave they buried his completely under the clay.

Found Casket Tuesday Afternoon. Her mother, one of the caretakers at the cemetery, said he noticed the casket at 1 p. m. Tuesday, when he went to work in that section of the cemetery to cut weeds. He thought it was a rough box and dismissed it from his mind. The casket had been carried a distance of 70 yards and placed in the knee-high weeds, south of the grave. Then Brenn was ready to cut the grass in the vicinity of the casket, about 3 p. m., he called the sexton, Edward Powers, to ask what should be done with it. Brenn said he picked up a small crucifix from the ground near the casket and placed it in the casket. In the casket was a stipular and a silk sacred heart. He and the sexton moved the casket to one side where it would not obstruct the work. They replaced the lid. On it was an engraved plate, "At Rest." Then the sexton noted the opened grave.

Saw Auto Lights in Cemetery. Two residents living near the cemetery offered statements tending to establish the time at which the grave was robbed. Albert Elias, who lives on the Mount Olive road, across from the cemetery, due north of the grave about 100 yards, said he saw automobile lights in the cemetery at the spot where the grave was located, about 9:45 p. m. Monday. He told detectives and newspaper reporters at the grave yesterday that he clearly made out the two headlights, and indicated their position as about 10 yards west of the grave, and shining directly across it. He said, however, that he did not see anyone moving about, though he watched for several minutes before he re-entered his home.

Some doubt was at first expressed that one man could have removed the casket, but this seems to have been corrected by the fact that the weight of the casket and body did not greatly exceed 225 pounds. It has been pointed out that it was possible for one man to have upended the casket and then to have pulled it from the grave.

Sexton Powers said yesterday that he had not seen Schneider about the cemetery since the funeral, Sept. 2, William Herring, 7268 South Broadway, who was driving toward Park Lawn cemetery, Sunday afternoon, about 4, said yesterday he saw Schneider near the entrance of Mount Hope cemetery and offered him a ride, thinking he was going to Park Lawn. Schneider indicated, Herring said, that he was going to Mount Hope and declined the ride.

The police have been investigating the theory that Schneider may have been cognizant of the theft of his daughter's body. He is under arrest and last night was confronted with Mrs. Brenn. She denied vehemently that she had ever seen him and Schneider denied that he knew Mrs. Brenn.

POLICE FOUND FLAWS IN BRENN'S ROBBERY STORY

He Said Six Men Were in Ford Sedan and Forced Him to Get in With Them.

Brenn drove to the Laclede Avenue Police Station, Leffingwell and Laclede avenues, at 9 o'clock last Monday night, and complained that he had been held up by six masked men on the Telegraph road, one mile north of Oakville, who robbed him of $45, took him in their automobile and put him out at the city limits, on the Lemay Ferry road.

He talked to Officers E. R. Richards and Joseph Murphy at the Laclede Avenue station, who yesterday identified a photograph of Brenn as the man who called there. "We noticed the time and it was exactly 9 o'clock when Brenn called," said Richards. "He came in a Ford roadster with a box built on the rear end and bearing the sign of a painter and decorator at 3114 Oakhill avenue. He wore an army olive drab shirt, the left sleeve of which was ripped from the cuff to the shoulder, and a pair of old trousers."

"He said he owned an automobile repair shop at Oakville and about 3 o'clock had been called to make a repair on a car one mile north of his place on the Telegraph road. When he reached the place, according to his story, six masked men, one of them with drawn revolver, took him in a Ford sedan and drove in the direction of this city. While sitting in the car, he said, they robbed him of $45 and when they reached the city limits, threw him out. He said he then walked back to where his roadster had been left and came to the house where he lived on the police."

"We attempted to question him as to why he had come all the way from the southern city limits to the Laclede Avenue station to make the report and he appeared confused, remarking that he was unacquainted with the city and did not know where to look for a police station."

Doubted His Statements. Doubtful of his statements about the six men being masked and of that number of robbers riding around in a little sedan, to say nothing of having taken him with them, and when we attempted to question him for details, he protested that he didn't have time to discuss the situation, as he wanted to hasten back and inform the county authorities of what had occurred.

"We asked him to give a description of the men, and he declared he saw them but for a moment, as one of them threw a large cloth over his head and kept him blindfolded until he was thrown out of the car."

He pointed to his torn sleeve as evidence that he had been in a struggle. "He did say he suspected a man employed by him, whom he discharged the day before, as that man was the only one who knew that he had any money."

Brenn's attitude was such that we gave little credence to his story, but we advised him to notify the county authorities and he then left. While the homicide squad was waiting for Mrs. Brenn to return home yesterday afternoon, she called with her baby at the Laclede Avenue station and showed the officers a photograph of her husband, asking them if it was a picture of the man who called there Monday night. They told her it was. At that time 3 o'clock, neither Mrs. Brenn nor the officers at the Laclede Avenue station knew she was wanted for questioning.

Mrs. Brenn's remarks were interpreted by a woman who accompanied her. Through this woman she told the officers that her husband had been burned to death in his garage. "The men who burned him," she added, "even went so far as to have a spade handy with which to dig his grave. This spade was found in the ruins."

Mrs. Brenn was told that her husband had said he suspected a former employee of being one of the robbers, and she said she doubted this, as she believed the man to be trustworthy, remarking that she had re-employed him after the fire. She then left the station, saying she was going back to her home at Oakville. Four hours later she was taken into custody in a dry goods store on South Broadway.

MOTHER FEARED SOMETHING CROOKED

Mrs. Florida Adams, 3629 Easton avenue, mother of the missing Harry Brenn, last night told a Post-Dispatch reporter that her son and his German war bride had been planning to return to Germany as soon as they could get the necessary funds. She declared Mrs. Brenn had not been content with living in the United States and that her son shared the desire to go back to Germany, where he spent part of his overseas army service. Mrs. Brenn is said to have packed part of her belongings and told Mrs. Marie Effen of Ten Brook, Mo., a sister of Brenn, that she was going to Germany with her 11-month-old son as soon as a settlement was reached over Brenn's insurance.

A premonition of "something crooked" about the supposed death of Brenn was felt by Mrs. Adams the night of the inquest, she said. She did not attend the inquest, but discussed it with Mrs. Effen after her latter returned to the Adams home from the inquiry by Coroner Bracy.

AMUNDSEN TO CARRY MAIL ON ALASKA-EUROPE FLIGHT

Explorer Has Letters Written by Some Residents to Friends in Europe.

By the Associated Press.
SEATTLE, Wash., Sept. 28.—One of the most spectacular chapters in the annals of world-wide postal delivery may be written when Capt.
Rondal Amundsen, famous Norwegian explorer, wings his way across the top of the world in his proposed attempt to fly an airplane from the tip of Alaska to Northernmost Europe via the North Pole. With him in his monoplane will ride a mail sack containing letters written by Some residents for delivery to friends in Europe.

If weather conditions had not forced a postponement of the flight
until next year, these letters might have reached their destination a week ahead of the time required to make delivery by the established routes. As it is, arriving perhaps more than a year later, they will have a priceless historical value to their recipients, who will doubtless follow the affairs of their explorer-postman with intensified interest.

According to a report by Postmaster Walsh of Nome to local postal officials, the letters were written when Capt. Amundsen was about to depart from the mining camp on his way to Wainwright, 166 miles southwest of Point Barrow, where he will winter, awaiting favorable conditions
for his proposed flight.

Fraud Case Demurrers Overruled.
By the Associated Press.
NEW YORK, Sept. 28.—Federal

Judge Augustus N. Hand yesterday
overruled demurrers filed by George M. Burditt, Arthur W. Kopler, Lawrence N. Bremer and Maurice M. O.
Purdy, who were jointly indicted with Charles W. Morse on April 27 for using the mails to defraud the public in the sale of United States Steamship Co. stock. The Court put aside
the arguments of the defendants, declaring that the language of the indictment was clear and convincing and decided that they must stand trial on the charges now against them.

MILK FUND $4000
SHORT OF GOAL AS
SEASON NEARS END

Selling
Velvet
and Saturday

Who will give $100 to help the Post-Dispatch Pure Milk and Free Ice Fund toward its $10,000 goal? The 1932 season is nearing the end of its summer's campaign with approximately $4000 and a yearly goal that calls for $10,000. What are the people of St. Louis going to do about it? Who will be the first to heed the cry of weanlings and forward a contribution to lessen the $4000 deficit in the fund that seeks to provide free milk for the children during the summer months of the year and pure milk at all times?

Need for Milk Still Present.
Approaching fall does away with the need for ice, but the need for a smooth supply of pure milk still remains. St. Louisans are familiar with the fact that during 1931 St. Louis had the lowest infantile death rate of any large city in the United States. One reason for this was the abundant supply of pure milk within the reach of those needing it most.

KING FAMILY SAID TO OWN 1,600,000 ACRES

Member Who Died Here Had Been at Summer Home in Wentzville, Mo.

Richard King Sr., 62 years old, of Corpus Christi, Tex., who died suddenly of a stroke of cardiac paralysis in his room at Hotel Jefferson yesterday morning, was a member of a family famed through the Southwest for its extensive cattle and horse ranches and the modern equipment of its farms.

The family is said to hold 1,600,000 acres of land in Texas. Capt. Richard King, father of the man who died here, was the founder of the King estates in Texas. He died 25 years ago.

The Kings first attempted irrigation in the Rio Grande Valley and they had the first telephone line from Corpus Christi to Brownsville erected almost 50 years ago.

Family in Commercial Enterprises. During recent years, Richard King Sr. had spent most of his time in Corpus Christi, maintaining a close watch over his large La Puerta ranch near Agua Dulce. A son, Richard Jr., also owns a large ranch near the La Puerta. The King family, either directly or through representatives, is interested in practically every large commercial enterprise in South Texas.

King owned a summer home near Wentzville, Mo., and had been there in the last few weeks. He drove to St. Louis with his wife last Tuesday, intending to return yesterday. Mrs. King was with her husband yesterday morning when he died. They had returned to their rooms after breakfast. While Mrs. King was getting a glass of water she heard her husband groan and found him lying in a chair. He was dead when a physician arrived.

Surviving Relatives. Besides his wife and son, King is survived by two daughters, Mrs. R. G. Estill of Estill, Mo., and Mrs. Maj. J. Darst Patch of Bethlehem, Pa.

The funeral will be held Saturday afternoon at Christ Church Cathedral, probably at 2 o'clock. Dean Davis, former pastor of the church and a lifelong friend of the King family, is en route from New York and is expected here in time to conduct funeral services. Burial will be in Bellefontaine Cemetery.

Richard King Kaufmann, vice president of the Mercantile Trust Co., was named after Capt. Richard King following his birth on the King ranch.

Baby Left on Street Is Kidnaped. By the Associated Press. NEW YORK, Sept. 24.—An alarm has been sent out by the police for Mildred Voth, 3 months old, who was kidnaped from in front of a store of one of Harlem's busiest streets yesterday afternoon, while her mother was shopping.

GERK RECOMMENDS CHARGES AGAINST TWO PATROLMEN

Police Inspector Makes Tour of District From Which Two Were Transferred.

Police Inspector Gerk and his aid, Sergt. Tabb, made an early morning inspection of patrolmen on their beats in the Wyoming Street District today and recommended that charges be filed against two patrolmen.

This is the police district in which Gerk's son and other youths were put off a street corner one night two weeks ago, following which Patrolman Edward Jost and Sergt. Albert Spangler, who dispersed the youths, were transferred by the Police Board to another district.

Gerk reported that, at 3:50 a. m., he saw Patrolman Edward McCullough enter the Columbia Mineral Water Co. office, 1809 Arsenal street, which is off his beat, and remain there 40 minutes. At 4:07 o'clock he saw Patrolman Michael Griffin enter the building, and when he did not come out at 4:55 o'clock, Gerk and Tabb entered and found him asleep in a swivel chair in the company office, with his cap off, his feet perched on the manager's desk and his raincoat thrown over him.

Gerk sent both officers to their station to make a report of their conduct. McCullough told him he went in there to get a drink of soda, and Griffin said he went there to get warm.

BIG FOUR SYSTEM VALUED TENTATIVELY AT $164,163,000

Amount Reckoned as of Jan. 30, 1915, for Rate-Making Purposes by the I. C. C.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 28. — The value of the railroad systems and property of the Cleveland, Cincinnati, Chicago and St. Louis Railroad, tentatively fixed today by the Interstate Commerce Commission at $164,163,000. This total, arrived at after several years of investigation to determine the company's physical valuation for rate-making purposes, was reckoned as of June 30, 1915, on the property of the various subsidiaries and owned corporations of the Big Four system.

The railroad is one of the largest on which the valuation work has been completed. The Big Four balance sheet, the commission report said, fixed the book value of all corporation holdings at $149,150,000, while outstanding capitalization of stocks and bonds amount to $155,947,000 at par. The company on June 30, 1915, was operating 1687 miles of main line track.

WRONG KIND OF MEN TOO OFTEN IN COLLEGE, SAYS BROWN HEAD

"Vast Majority Would Profit Far More by Some Other Kind of Education," He Says.

PROVIDENCE, R. I., Sept. 28.—President W. H. P. Farnce of Brown University in his address at the opening of the academic year yesterday said there was not room in colleges for all who seek admission, not so much to college as that often the wrong kind of men are going.

"All young men and women who want education ought to have it, but the vast majority would profit far more by some other kind of education than that given in the traditional American college," he said.

"Every man should be educated, but only a minority are mentally or morally benefited by seclusion of four years within the gates of Oxford and Cambridge or the American colleges based on the English model. England has solved the problem, not by building more Oxford, but by developing other types of training. We must do the same thing."

JAPANESE IMPERIAL GARDENS GRANTED TO CITY OF TOKIO

Shinjuku Park Was Scene of Annual Cherry Blossom Party of Royalty.

TOKIO, Aug. 31.—The Imperial household department has announced that the Shinjuku Imperial Gardens, where each year the Imperial Cherry Blossom Garden party has taken place, will be granted to the city of Tokio. Another garden is being sought for this fête.

The Shinjuku Park hinders traffic between Yotsuya and Sendagaya and prevents extension of one of these stations.

have," he said, "but they never were serious, and Dr. Hall's name never figured in them in any way. Nor did we have the slightest trouble over him."

Mills also said he knew of his wife going to New York a number of times with Mr. Hall, but remarked that it was merely another instance of the doctor's kindness, as his wife was having a tooth treated. It was established Mrs. Mills went to a New York dentist once to have a tooth extracted.

Henry Stevens, brother of Mrs. Hall, was asked by reporters if it had been ascertained whether Mr. Hall's securities left him by his mother-in-law had been found intact. He gave the inference that the safe deposit box of Mr. Hall had not been gone into and said his sister felt nothing could be gained by delving into that matter.

"She is absolutely sure the stocks and bonds had nothing to do with the case, and I feel that way myself," he said. "But I will be glad to look into the matter if the authorities request me to do so."

It was assumed from his statement that the officials had not even asked Mrs. Hall or any of her relations to look into Mrs. Hall's financial affairs and thus establish whether he had possibly been a victim of blackmail.

Prosecutor Sticker said no letters or documents had been found in the Hall home or in the Church of St. John the Evangelist, which would be of help in the murder inquiry. As for the clergyman's missing watch, he declared his investigators had gone to the Hall home to ascertain its number, but without success. A search, however, was being made for

2 NALTY CASE FIGURES WILL ACCEPT VERDICT

Third Character at Edwardsville Murder Trial, However, Files Motive for New Trial

John J. Bauer, alias "Big George" Ayers, and George O'Malley, St. Louis police characters, who were sentenced to life imprisonment Monday afternoon at Edwardsville for murder, have made up their minds to accept the verdict, and, in all probability, will be sentenced formally next week. Lyle Watkins, a third St. Louis police character, who was sentenced to 20 years in the same case, has filed a motion for a new trial.

The men were convicted in connection with the fatal shooting of Deputy Sheriff Patrick J. Nalty at Granite City, July 22. Mrs. Bernice Traynor, wife of another St. Louis police character, who was charged jointly with Bauer, O'Malley and Watkins, was found not guilty.

"Bauer and O'Malley were advised by me to accept the jury's verdict," said Edmund Rane of counsel for the defense. "The least they could have gotten would have been a verdict of manslaughter, which would carry, probably, a sentence of 10 years."

Indictments Pending.
"In addition to the murder charge three indictments charging assault to kill are pending against them growing out of the fact that three other police officers were with Nalty when he was shot, and if Bauer and O'Malley had been forced to trial on those charges additional sentences possibly would have followed that would have brought the term of imprisonment to something equivalent to a life sentence."

"Bauer, under the name of Ayers, also is under sentence of 25 years in the Missouri penitentiary in connection with bank burglary, so it would avail him nothing to seek a new trial. As to Watkins, his alibi absolutely was unimpeachable, and we are convinced he was convicted through prejudice against Bauer and O'Malley."

Chamber to Aid Usury Prosecutions.
The St. Louis Chamber of Commerce has announced that it will aid all railroad employees who desire to assist in the prosecution of persons charged with usury. The Chamber has received the assurance of railroad officers that employees, whose wages are seized by money lenders, will not be dismissed from service. The services of Glendy Arnold, general counsel for the Chamber of Commerce, have been offered to

50 ARE INDICTED IN LAUNDRY INVESTIGATION

New Orleans Business Men Charged With Having Formed Illegal Trade Restraint Combination.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.
NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 23.—
The Orleans Parish grand jury has indicted 50 business men on a charge
of having formed an illegal combination in restraint of trade when they organized the New Orleans Laundry Association.

Harold F. Newman, president of the Stock Exchange and Association of Commerce; D. C. McClellan, former president of the Business Men's Racing Association; L. M. Pool,
president of the Marine Bank; Theodora Grunwald, head of the Grune-wald interests; Mrs. Stella Henry and Miss Odile V. Hubert, Johnston Armstrong, W. Irving Moss, A. P. Howard, Felix P. Vaccaro, E. H. Yerlander, Charles D. O'Connor, H. B.
Senthelmer, W. S. Lazarus, Ralph G.
Hersford, Max N. Kohler, Frank J.
Monteleone of the vast Monteleone interests; W. V. Solomon and Joseph Chalonsa, fruit importer, are among those indicted.

Judge Dowling asked for the investigation of the association. Lau-ndries here do not provide lists with prices on them. They now charge 4 cents a piece for collars and from 10 to 15 cents for shirts. It is alleged that each laundry charges
the same prices.

Attorney-General A. Y. Coco also is investigating the alleged combine.
Indicted for Murder of Father.
By the Associated Press.
KANSAS CITY, Mo., Sept. 23.— An indictment charging murder was returned by the Jackson County grand jury at noon yesterday against Roy B. Garvey, confessed slayer of ter's office Sept. 6.

REED FAVORS AMENDING THE VOLSTEAD LAW TO PREVENT UNREASONABLE SEARCHES AND SEIZURES; TAKES NO DEFINITE STAND ON WINE AND BEER

Senator's Opening Speech of Campaign at Mexico Heard by About 2500 Persons—Small Number of Women in Audience—State and National Administrations Criticized.

By a Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.
MEXICO, Mo., Sept. 28.—United States Senator James A. Reed, in his opening speech of the Democratic fall campaign here last night, discussed the prohibition question, favoring amendment of the Volstead law to prevent unreasonable searches and seizures, and declaring that Congress has the power to intend of beverage laws to the extent of making them intoxicating. An increase is desired by the light wine and beer advocates.

The prohibition discussion was the second of the divisions of Reed's speech. The third and longest was an attack on the new tariff, and on the Harding administration, in its attitude toward Big Business. The first section of the speech was a rehearsal of the Democratic State platform, as adopted in the Excelsior Springs convention dominated by the Reed following, and an attack on the Republican State platform, adopted on the same day at Springfield. Reed called the roll of the Democratic State candidates, commending each, and he then ridiculed the part of the Republican State platform which commends the present Republican State officials.

By his declaration on the prohibition question, Senator Reed appears to have met the demand of his Republican opponent, R. R. Brewster. In his opening speech, Reed said he would be willing to issue a statement, simultaneously with Reed, as to his views on the question. Reed rejected and ridiculed this suggestion. Reed said he would be willing to issue a statement, simultaneously with Reed, as to his views on the question. Reed rejected and ridiculed this suggestion.

Reed did not commit himself to any definite position on the wine and beer program, and he did state that any permitted beverage must be "in good faith nonintoxicating." But the Senator's declaration on the liquor question, as a whole, was not pleasing to the large dry element in his audience, and in contrast with other parts of his speech, it was received with demonstration.

It is now Brewster's move, at his opening in Warrensburg, Saturday. If he takes substantially Reed's position, Brewster may eliminate the liquor question from the campaign. If he takes a position widely at variance from Reed, he may create the dominant issue of the campaign thereby.

Reed, after reading the part of his speech relating to prohibition, departed from his prepared manuscript to remark:

"Brewster has been anxious to know what I was going to say. He said he was afraid to go out into the dark all alone. I have now lighted a candle for the gentleman, and he can now venture out into the shadow land."

The only mention of President Wilson made in Reed's speech was in a reference to the President's veto of the Volstead act. There was no mention of the League of Nations or other issues on which Reed fought President Wilson, although he discussed throughout the State in his recent primary campaign.

Discussion of Prohibition.
Reed's discussion of the prohibition question, in full, given out in prepared copies of his Mexico speech, is:

"In discussing the question of prohibition I want it understood that I speak for myself only. I do not undertake to commit or bind anyone but myself."

"I have hitherto tried to make my position plain. Let me restate it: The power to punish local crimes was from the beginning a power retained by the States. The Federal Government possessed no such power."

"I opposed the enactment of the Eighteenth Amendment chiefly upon the ground that it invaded the rights of the States, and that if we could trust the States to define and punish murder, arson, theft, burglary, highway robbery, and all other revolting and heinous crimes committed against persons or property, we could equally trust them to regulate or prohibit the sale of a bottle of beer."

Against Centralization.
"It seemed to me that if the Federal Government could properly assume police jurisdiction within the States as to the sale of a glass of wine, it could with greater reason be asked to assume jurisdiction over all the graver crimes, and with equal logic, the power of control by the States over all criminal acts and procedure could be taken away."

"This would mean the centralization in the Federal Government of powers so vast that the States would be practically obliterated."

"Whether I was right or wrong, the Eighteenth Amendment has been adopted. It is now a part of the supreme law of the land, and unless it is repealed by the vote of three-fourths of the Legislatures of the States, it will continue to be a part of the Constitution."

"Every Senator is required to make oath that he will support the Constitution and defend it from all enemies, foreign and domestic."

"I am concerned. The new regime in Greece is sending 10,000 men into Thrace. They are now split and are determined to conquer the Turks."

NEW FRISCO SHOP WORKERS GET WAGE STRIKERS SOUGHT

Association of Men Who Refused to Walk Out and Those Newly Employed Given Contract.

MACHINISTS GET 77 CENTS AN HOUR

Old Rate Was 70 and Strike Was Called to Increase It to Figure Granted New Men.

By the Associated Press.
MUSKOGEE, Ok., Sept. 28.—Shopmen now employed by the St. Louis-San Francisco Railroad were granted an increase in wages yesterday in the first contract to be made between railroad and officers of the Metal Crafts Association, which was organized recently by shopmen who refused to strike and men employed after the walkout.

The wage scale was agreed upon at a conference held in Springfield, Mo., which increased the machinists' pay to 77 cents an hour, the wage for which the shop strike was called. The new shopmen until yesterday had been paid 70 cents an hour; the Board provided and the strikers refused to accept as a living wage.

It was also agreed that men working overtime will receive pay for each hour. Time worked on holidays and Sundays is to be considered extra work.

The announcement of the wage increase was made by the foreman of the local shops.

Eric Conference Ends But Result Is Not Announced.
YOUNGSTOWN, O., Sept. 28.—Officials of the Erie Railroad and representatives of striking shopmen met here last night for a series of conferences last night without announcing the outcome, except to state that a satisfactory meeting had been held. Further sessions will take place, it was said.

Eight Men Arrested for Hauling of Trains in Descent.
By the Associated Press.
NEEDLES, Cal., Sept. 28.—Eight men were arrested here yesterday by Deputy United States Marshals on warrants issued at Los Angeles on indictments returned by a Federal grand jury which investigated charges of conspiracy to impede interstate traffic. The men are C. E. Holly, engineer; E. E. Woodbeck, brakeman; O. E. Fox, engineer; H. E. Reynolds, brakeman; E. Arkbauer, conductor; E. Frazer, brakeman; R. H. Clements, machinist, and John A. Stecklin, machinist.

The charges were made in connection with abandonment of Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe Railroad trains at Needles and other desert points last August. Clements and Stecklin are members of shop crafts brotherhoods on strike closed the Santa Fe yards here. The trainmen under arrest are employees of the Santa Fe.

Holly is mayor of Needles and during the period the trains were held up was chairman of a committee of the Brotherhood of Railway Engineers appointed to handle the situation. Fox is local chairman of the engineers' brotherhood. Clements is president of the general committee of striking shop crafts employees at Needles.

According to Federal officers, the train abandonment was the result of a plan formed by the defendants and others which resulted in the impending of the United States mails.

C. & A. Announces Increase That May Put 2500 to Work.
By the Associated Press.
BLOOMINGTON, Ill., Sept. 28.—Chicago & Alton today announced an increase of pay of all men, including foremen, ranging from 1 to 5 cents an hour, dating back to Sept. 16. This restores a part of the reduction ordered by the Railway Labor Board July 1.

Shop rules concessions agreed to by the Chicago & Alton today resulted in change of sentiment among strikers and unless there is an unexpected hitch 2500 men will return to work Friday morning at Bloomington, Rockford, Slatter and other terminals.

Moss of Columbia, Democratic nominee for Congress in the Eighth District, Mrs. Moss devoted the larger part of her time to a discussion of the tariff, and to an appeal to women to vote and not remain at home on election day. Saying she had heard that some of the men were going fishing on election day, she said: "I tell you men that no fish will bite on election day except suckers. And to the women," she continued, "I will say, don't put up with it, or take bread, or give a dinner party on that day; go to the polls and vote."

Reed was preceded on the platform by the evening by Mrs. St. Clair.

REACTION AGAINST HARDING IN TOLEDO DISTRICT HAS NOT REACHED THE DANGER POINT

Untoward Feeling, However, Is Noticeable—The Gossip That President Won't Accept Renomination Undermining His Strength.

By DAVID LAWRENCE, Special Washington Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.
Copyright, 1932.

TOLEDO, O., Sept. 28.—An insidious tale—and by insidious one means politically dangerous—is going the rounds among Republicans here and elsewhere in Ohio to the effect that President Harding is so tired of his job that in due time he will announce that he will not accept a renomination for the presidency.

The story has this basis: Many of the political pilgrims from the President's home State who have been to Washington have come here with gossip that Mr. Harding found the presidency a superhuman task and that it was wearing him out. Those who know from past experience how they feel in the first two years will bear testimony that Harding's attitude is not novel. It was the first year of Mr. Wilson's administration that he exclaimed to a group of callers that he never could understand how anyone in his right senses could ever seek the presidency.

Yet the question of renomination was not personal with Mr. Wilson any more than it will be with Harding. The party decided the matter. Harding was drafted in 1920—he had made no campaign for the nomination and he will be drafted again if the party's chiefs think he should be.

Only Effect at This Time.
The only effect of this story at the time is to undermine the political strength of Harding with his own party. There has been, of course, a distinct loss of ground by the President. He is personally popular, but not as much so as he was before the mail and coal strikes. It is natural for those with whom the wish is father to the thought to begin talking of someone else for the presidential nomination and it is inevitable that the talk of another should be credited on what seems to be a plausible assumption that President Harding himself will not wish to run. It is always conceded that if Harding sought a renomination the party would be embarrassed if it refused.

The reaction against the Harding administration is noticeable, but surface indications are that it hasn't yet reached the point of real danger to the Republicans. For one thing, the strength of Carmel Thompson, Republican candidate for the governorship, is such that even in this Democratic section the probability of Thompson's election is discussed with as much assurance of coming true as in the Cleveland district. This is, of course, largely due to Thompson's ability and reputation as a business man and executive. It is important, however, if Thompson carries the State by a sizeable majority, he will pull many candidates for Congress through and may help Simeon Pess, the Republican candidate against Senator Pomerene.

The wet and dry issue. The wet and dry issue will be vastly controlling in Toledo and environs. There are glass factories here which would be benefited by a return of bottle production if light wine and beer should come back. Even the advocates of amending the State Constitution admit they will not get very far at this time, but they hope Ohio's example will not only help other states to initiate similar legislation, but that the Ohio delegation in Congress will go to Washington with a mandate from the people of Ohio to make them vote for a modification of the Volstead act.

Normally Senator Pomerene, Democrat, would get a big vote in Toledo. If this were not a railroad center he would make big gains here. But the railroad unions are not fond of Pomerene because of his speeches in the recent strike crisis. The Democratic leaders figure it out, however, that Pess, the Republican candidate, has also failed to win the endorsement of labor, which ought, they think, equalize matters on that score and give Pomerene the benefit of labor's vote, because he is regarded as a wet, and labor is usually quite moist. There is no Socialist candidate for the Senate this year, so the choice is between Pess and Pomerene.

The chances of a Pomerene victory for the Senate are better than Donahy's prospect for the governorship. The State looks safely Republican, but with greatly reduced majority under 1920.

ALDERMANIC BOND ISSUE HEARINGS BY COMMITTEE OF 12

Resolution Passed Creating Body to Hear Arguments
on Wednesday and Friday Evenings.

DIFFERENT ITEM
FOR EACH SESSION

Proposal Made to Require
Red Lights on Autos to Go
On When Cars Start Away
From Curbs.

The Board of Aldermen today adopted a resolution introduced by Chairman Kuhn of the Ways and Means Committee, providing for the creation of a special bond issue committee of 12 members which will conduct public hearings on the 18 proposed items for the $25,000,000 bond issue, which it is planned to submit to a vote at a special election next Feb. 14.

The special bond issue committee will meet each Wednesday and Friday night at 7:30 o'clock in the Board of Aldermen chamber in the city hall. It is planned that a separate bond issue proposal will be considered at each meeting.

The first meeting will be next Wednesday night when the item of $17,500,000 to be used in payment of the city's portion of street openings and widenings will be considered. Members of the Committee of Civic Needs and city officials will be present. Anyone interested may attend.

To hold the special election on Feb. 14, a date set tentatively, the ordinance providing for submission of the proposals must be passed by the board and approved by the Mayor within six weeks.

Aldermanic Committee.
President Alderman of the Board of Aldermen was made chairman of the committee and named the remaining members. In doing so he said that he believed the work the committee will do is the most important which has ever been before the Board of Aldermen.

Other members of the Special Bond Issue Committee are: Alderman Kuhn, First Ward; Eilers, Twenty-sixth; Niedermeier, Third; Udel, Twenty-third; Felt, Eleventh; Haggel, Thirtieth; Smith, Twenty-first; Nangle, Twenty-fifth; Wimer, Twenty-seventh; Uhlmeier, Fifteenth; and Ries, Sixteenth.

Auto Lamp Suggestion.
Alderman Neumann of the Twelfth Ward today introduced an ordinance providing that all automobiles be equipped with a red lamp, visible 300 feet to the rear, which will light when the driver of the machine throws out the clutch preparatory to starting the car. The ordinance provides that the lamp must be attached to or be on a level with the windshield on the left side of the car.

Neumann said the same lamp could also be used as a "stop" as well as "start" signal, as it would show red when the clutch was disengaged in bringing the car to a stop. He said the purpose was to give warning when cars are pulling away from the curb.

Alderman Stult introduced two ordinances authorizing the United Railways Co. to make the change in routing on Twelfth street, St. Louis and Prairie avenues, as outlined in detail in the announcement by the company yesterday.

The accident occurred Aug. 17, last, at Twenty-second and Locust streets. The latter, it is alleged, will be disabled for an indefinite period, thereby losing his salary as a dancer on the stage.

AMERICAN HISTORY FOR AMERICAN CHILDREN

Bold Norsemen, Voyaging Beyond Sight of Their Land Which Greeks Had Never Done, Find
an Island They Call Iceland.

Iceland, the little island warmed by a volcano, that was discovered by the Norsemen.

By HENDRIK VAN LOON,
Author of "The Story of Mankind."

It would be easy to fill the whole Sunday edition of this paper (including the want ads and the comic section) with stories of these wonderful Norsemen, who founded kingdoms of their own in France and in Italy and in England and along the sandy shores of the North Sea and in distant Russia and who (according to our most recent information) explored the coast of Africa as far as the Congo River and brought back the first accounts of the man-like Orang-Outang, who filled their hearts with a great fear.

But all of this will have to wait for another time. Just now we are sailing the seas in an attempt to reach the unknown coast of America and as the Norsemen appear upon our little stage in the role of minor characters, we can't waste too much wood-pulp upon them.

Very early in their career they dared to leave the sight of land (something which the Greeks and Romans have never done) and they pushed westward until they discovered a big island near the Polar Circle.
They called it Iceland. Rainland would have been a better name, because the poor Icelanders have more need of umbrellas than of fur coats. The island is quite fertile and is kept warm by a volcano (the Hekla) and by a number of geysers. This word is almost pronounced like Kaiser, but it means something very different. It is a lot of hot water (instead of hot air), which spouts every once in a while.

Announcement was made yesterday by Prof. F. P. Hardaway of the tactics of Washington University.

That a cup has been awarded to membership of the University in the battery that had the highest standing at the close of the encampment at Fort Monroe this summer. Philip O.

Nuernberger was the representative of Washington University in the battery. The other institutions represented were the Citadel, Columbia

BURGLAR, NOT FATHER, AT HOME

After Mrs. William A. Schneider of 2635 Hickory street went across the street to visit her son, William A.
Schneider Jr., 2546 Hickory street,
last night, she noticed a light burning in her own home. Her son went over to tell his father, who, he supposed, had arrived home, to come across the street. Instead of the father, the son encountered a burglar ransacking the home. The intruder at first threatened young Schneider, but when Schneider was not frightened the burglar ran out a rear door and escaped. He took jewelry valued at $100.

Miss Katherine Anderson of 4117
Delmar boulevard awakened at 5 a.
m. yesterday and found a burglar ransacking her room. Her screams aroused her father, Jewel, who pursued the burglar from the house into the yard and down an alley. Nothing was taken.

Other burglaries reported were at the home of Mrs. Arnold Greenfield, 5582 Pershing avenue, where jewelry valued at $100 was taken after Mrs. Lena Applebaum, 1432A Biddle street, $118 and jewelry valued at $100 being stolen.

FLAPPER SHOP IN BANKRUPTCY
NEW YORK, Sept. 28.—Long gowns of the "ground gripper" variety, vampish hats and other fittings broadcast from Paris late this summer are winning the battle against the sporty, short-skirted, dinky-hatted apparences of flap-
perdom, it became apparent today
with the announcement of the filing of an involuntary petition of bankruptcy against the Flapper Shop, where Miss Fannie Luball has been dispensing to the fast disappearing flapper tribe.

The Heart of the Home is the living-room where family ties are knit more closely—where friends are entertained—where are spent evenings rich in association with those we love.
The young folks, too, would enjoy many happy hours in the livingroom if it were made attractive enough to compete with the other interests that beckon so alluringly.
If your son and your daughter would entertain their friends at home, they would form the right associations—so potent a factor in developing character.

Replenish Your Living Room
this week at these sale prices. Just today, tomorrow and Saturday —and then our sale of living room suites at factory prices will be a thing of the past.
For a modest expenditure you can now buy a comfortable, soft dayenport—a tall chair—or fat stubby chairs that will make of the most stiff, unsightly parlor a real attractive livable room.

Manufacturer's Sale—Factory Prices

The quality of PRUFROCK-LITTON upholstered furniture is so well known in St. Louis that it is needless to emphasize its superior workmanship.
And for the remaining days of this week this quality

than cheap inferior grades. Just think of buying a

PUBLIC OPENING OF HOTEL CHASE FRIDAY

Structure at King's Highway and Lindell Boulevard Cost

Hotel Chase, St. Louis' $4,500,000 hotel at the northeast corner of King's highway and Lindell boulevard, will have its public opening tomorrow and Saturday evenings. Almost all reservations have been taken for the formal dinner dances on these occasions. Paul Whiteman's Pavilion Royale orchestra of New York will play.

The hotel, of 10 stories, including roof garden and basement, is of masonry, with terra cotta trimmings, and Carthage stone base, built with its two projecting wings partly enclosing a fountain-set terrace before the Lindell boulevard entrance. A ground-sch arch loggia, surmounted by an open balcony, extends from wing to wing, and opens upon the main lounge, a room 50 by 100 feet, in which the management announces 20 pieces of furniture, no two alike, will be in place by Friday evening. The lounge, done, as is the entire ground floor, in Italian style, with 10 large oak-based pillars extending the length of the room in two rows of five, is raised about three feet above all other first-floor compartments.

Ground Floor Arrangement. Directly behind the lounge and opening off it through large arches is the palmroom. It is 60 by 200 feet, with a capacity of 1000 dinner guests. Opening off the palmroom, through glass-paned doors, are to the west, the main dining room, and to the east, the ballroom. The dining room is in Italian Renaissance style, with ceiling of close-set plaster-covered beams; above two rows of delicate dined pillars. It is lighted, as is the ballroom, through chandeliers of glass in pendant masses.

The ballroom, with private driveway entrance, is of soft green and gray tones, from its tile floor to its high ceiling. It opens upon a small convention hall at the southeast corner of the building.

The southwest corner of the hotel will be occupied by a chocolate room, with drug store and florist shop near by. A guest tunnel has been run from the hotel by the owner, Chase Utman, to his Chester apartments building immediately to the east, that residents there may have ready access to the hotel and its shops in inclement weather.

The automobile entrance, on the King's highway side, opens upon the foyer and office. One of the features of the ground arrangement is the kitchen, which opens directly upon the dining, palm and ball rooms. Separate stairs run from it to four private dining rooms on the second floor.

Roof Garden for 1000 Guests. The roof garden, with a capacity of 1000 guests, is two-thirds under open air, a high battlement extending around the tops of the two wings, one of which gives an especially attractive view of Forest Park and St. Louis to the west. Huge chandeliers will be placed over these wings when the gardens are opened next season. The remainder of the roof garden is glass inclosed on the sides, with the exception of the kitchen, an exact duplicate of the ground floor kitchen, on a smaller scale.

The hotel contains 200 rooms, ranging from single-rooms to suites of five, each with individual bath and all furnished in different periods. Turkish baths, for men and women; a beauty parlor, barber shop, game room, laundry and bake shop occupy the basement of the hotel.

DEFENDANT NOT IDENTIFIED AS SLAYER AT DANCE HALL FIGHT

Man Found Dead in Gutter Next Morning After Shot Was Heard Following Fight.

State witnesses who testified at Clayton yesterday were unable to identify James Sneed, 31 years old, a bartender, of 411 East Espenheide avenue, St. Louis County, as the man who engaged Clarence Breihan, 3213 Virginia avenue, in a fist fight and then shot him Nov. 5, 1921, at Schiller's Tavern in Hall, 300 Weiss avenue, Luxembourg. Sneed is on trial charged with the murder of Breihan and taking of testimony was begun before Judge McMillinney yesterday.

Robert Shoults, 7400 Virginia avenue, who was in Breihan's party when they approached the dance hall at which the trouble occurred, testified that a man came out of the hall and hit Breihan, knocking him down. Breihan and this man engaged in a fight then. Shoults testified, but before it ended, he said, he entered the hall. Shortly afterward he heard a shot. He could not identify Sneed as the man who hit Breihan, he testified. Elmer Wagner, a taxicab driver, said he saw two men fighting. They disappeared behind some automobiles in the street, he testified, after which he heard two shots. He could not identify Sneed as one of the men in the fight. Breihan's body was found the next morning at 7 o'clock, lying in a gutter, opposite the dance hall. He had been shot once, Coroner Rolla Bracy testified.

CARPENTERS TOLD TO RETURN MEN OR QUIT COUNCIL

Building Trades Body Delivers Ultimatum to Organization of 4200 Men, Threatening Suspension.
The Building Trades Council, composed of delegates from most of the unions in St. Louis engaged in the building industry, last night delivered an ultimatum to the Carpenters' District Council to order their men back to work on the Missouri Pacific Hospital, under construction at Grand and Shaw avenues, or stand suspended from the Building Trades Council. Suspension of the carpenters would mean a loss of 4200 members in the council.
The carpenters' delegates, including J. W. Williams, member of the Executive Board of the Carpenters' International Union, who argued the case from the carpenters' viewpoint, took the matter under consideration and will decide in a day or two whether to abide by the order or withdraw from the council.
How the Trouble Started.
The trouble was precipitated two weeks ago by three carpenters who quit work on the hospital building because sheet metal workers were doing work that the carpenters claim should be allotted to their craft. The work, which is the installation of metal trim on doors and windows, was awarded to the sheet metal workers three years ago by the National Board of Jurisdictional Awards. The carpenters' international union refused to accept the award, and later bolted a meeting of the building trades department of the American Federation of Labor at the Denver convention.
The Building Trades Council has about 12,000 affiliated members, and made an agreement with the Missouri Pacific Hospital Association that there would be no strikes, lock-outs or jurisdictional disputes to delay the work; that all rulings of the National Board of Jurisdictional Awards would prevail in any dispute.
"It is the intention of the Building Trades Council to consummate this contract in accordance with its provisions," said M. J. Cassidy, secretary, "and the carpenters, whose organization is party to that agreement, must abide by its provisions."
Breaks Occurred Twice Before.
The carpenters' local unions function through their district council. Twice before, since 1911, they have withdrawn affiliation with the building trades. Their suspension will mean that they will not be included in agreements negotiated by the Building Trades Council, and it is understood that unless they send their men back to work on the Missouri Pacific Hospital the contractors may employ carpenters regardless of union affiliation.
St. Louis is one of the few large cities where carpenters are affiliated with local building trades councils, the carpenters either having withdrawn or been suspended in the last few years because their international organization bolted the Denver convention.
The council approved a letter addressed to the voters of Missouri, prepared by Cassidy and Thomas J. McNamara, president, in which the council went on record as opposing a request by Alroy S. Phillips, attorney for the State Federation of Labor, that Supreme Justice Conway Elder disqualify himself in the case of an injunction proceeding to prevent the Secretary of State submitting the workmen's compensation act to the voters in November. The letter says that the records show that Judge Elder, when he was a State Senator, voted for every workmen's compensation bill that was reported favorably to the Senate, and that there is no reason why he should disqualify himself.

NAVAL OFFICERS DISAGREE ON RESULT ON MIMIC BATTLE
Planes Theoretically Destroy Battleship, but Ship's Staff Does Not Admit Defeat.
By the Associated Press.
NOFOLK, Va., Sept. 28.—With naval chiefs and battleship officers holding opposite opinions as to the results, the mimic battle yesterday between a squadron of torpedo planes and three ships of the Atlantic fleet staged off the Virginia Capes was the subject of much discussion here today.
The 18 planes which participated in the "attack" yesterday and theoretically destroyed the Arkansas could have been annihilated before reaching striking distance of the dreadnoughts had the battleships been protected by the usual screens of destroyers, its officers contended.
Rear Admiral Moffett, chief of the Naval Air Service, Col. C. H. Panforth of the Army Air Service, commandant of Langley Field, Va., and other air service officials, expressed the opinion that the test was satisfactory in every way, proving that planes equipped with torpedoes can successfully attack battleships from the surface, especially if protected by a smoke screen or fog.
Frederickson Has Big Lead.
By the Associated Press.
NEWARK, N. J., Sept. 28.—United States Senator Joseph H. Frederickson, who was renominated by New Jersey Republicans Tuesday's primaries, will have a majority of close to 100,000 votes over George L.

Yanks The Giants Are Tuning Up for the Series; Looks Like the Yanks Will Have to Face the Music

Managers of Opposite Types Will Clash in World Series

McGraw Directs Virtually Every Pitch, Every Move, Offensive and Defensive, While Huggins Allows His Men Wide Latitude.

By George Moriarty, (American League Umpire)

THERE is no doubt that the players extend themselves to the limit in a World Series. Then tension is doubly severe on the players because they realize that one pitched ball, a slow grounder, or an easy fly, may have a serious bearing on the final outcome. There is also that constant fear of making a costly blunder, with the knowledge that every fan in the country will talk about it through the winter months.

It is not only the juicy cut of the World Series' melon that spurs the players on to great deeds. Glory and fame play their parts in the big event. Ball players are human. Look over their home addresses and you will find that a big percentage of them reside in the smaller towns where "person" touch is a matter of course. Connie Mack is a player who wants to go home after the series and receive the plaudits of the home fans.

In the regular season games, there is always that chance for a player to redeem himself after experiencing a bad day. This opportunity seldom presents itself in a short series of seven games. World Series history shows that a player is either something of a hero or a "goat" when the series is over.

Often, the base ball classic is the cause of making one player and breaking another. In the 1909 conflict, Fred Clarke was in desperate straits for pitchers to stop the Detroit Tigers. "Babe" Adams, practically unknown at the time, was pushed into the breach. He won his first game handsily and followed it up with two more sparkling victories. Those feats proved to be his stepping-stones to stardom.

How Donovan fared. In the same series, "Wild Bill" Donovan pitched one of the best games of his career. He was seldom better because he forced himself. His speed was tremendous and his dazzling curves bewildered the Pirates. Hucy Jennings was deeply puzzled in choosing a pitcher for the rubber game of the series.

His pitching staff was worn ragged from the terrific strain of winning the pennant that year. Jennings finally decided on Donovan, because the players had unlimited confidence in his ability to turn in a victory. Donovan complained of a sore arm. Only his great courage prompted him to tackle the job.

Right from the beginning, the Cleveland Wins From Maplewood

Eddie Plank Stars With 60-Yard Run in 17-0 Triumph of Blue and Gold.

Cleveland High School scored a victory in its initial football game of the present campaign by defeating Maplewood High School, yesterday, at the Cleveland campus by a score of 17 to 0.

The Garondelet team played smoothly through the four 10-minute periods and exhibited a successful forward pass attack. The eleven from the country was the equal of Cleveland in weight, but lacked the polish of Fenenga's entry. Both coaches made some substitutions.

Cleveland scored early in the first quarter. After several attempts had been made at the heavy Maplewood line, the Cleveland quarterback sent "Eddie" Plank around the left end. Plank carried the oval 60 yards for a touchdown. Kohlbry registered an additional point by a neatly executed drop kick from scrimmage formation.

The second touchdown came in the second quarter. Starkoff delivered a long pass from Konekman and took the ball to the Maplewood 2-yard line. Quarterback Leopold carried the nugget over the line by bucking through center. Kohlbry again booted the ball between the uprights for the extra point following the touchdown.

Maplewood improves. Maplewood sent Phelan, a former Central High School player, into the game in the second half. This youngster bolstered the Maplewood team. Fumbles at vital moments prevented the Maplewood team from scoring. The play during the entire period was in the Cleveland territory.

The teams battled evenly during the closing quarter. Cleveland added 2 points to their total when Kohlbry drop kicked from the 33-yard line after Maplewood had lost the ball by attempting a forward pass.

Wrightstone and Henline of the Phillies and Ford of the Braves, in knocking out four batters, brought the season's total for circuit drives in both major leagues to 103.

Wills' Opponent Gets Commission O.K. After Tryout

South American Negro Publicly Boxes Three Foes to Prove He Is Not a "Ham."

By Leased Wire From the New York Bureau of the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, Sept. 28.—Clem Johnson, the huge negro who meets Harry Wills in a 15-round battle at Madison Square Garden, Friday night, was given a public tryout yesterday afternoon at Grupp's gymnasium in Harlem and received an official O. K. from the Boxing Commission, which was represented by Harry Burchall.

So far as Clem Johnson is concerned, it can be said that he failed to show anything remarkable in the way of form or hitting power; but for all that he may be expected to make a pretty showing against Harry Wills than did Tut Jackson of Washington Court House, Ohio, Johnson is at least Wills' match in the matter of weight. Yesterday he tipped the scales at 210 pounds, which is about what the colored heavyweight champion will weigh on Friday night.

Jack Johnson, former holder of the world's heavyweight title, was an interested spectator at yesterday's workout. After Clem had boxed with Stanton and Renault, Johnson climbed into the ring and made an impromptu speech in which he declared that he had a protegee whom he would like to send in against the South American pugilist. The protegee was George Godfrey. Clem was willing and stepped two fast rounds with Godfrey and handed him quite a mauling. Immediately afterward Godfrey and Renault went two rounds and the latter made Jack Johnson's scrapper look like a selling plaster.

Johnson in for a beating. Renault was decidedly more impressive in the ring than was Clem Johnson which will give some idea of the latter's capabilities. From the showing of the South American negro yesterday it looks to be a safe bet that he won't go more than five rounds with Wills unless the latter pulls his punches.

Harry Wills reached the gymnasium shortly after Johnson's tryout and went through his usual training stunts. He refused to comment on his next victim.

Schalk Day in Litchfield. LITCHFIELD, Ill., Sept. 28.—The Chicago American team came here today to play a team from Mount Vernon in the annual game played in honor of Ray Schalk, star catcher for the White Sox, whose home is in Litchfield.

The Chicago Cubs are scheduled for an exhibition at Waukegan, Ill., today, the day being set aside for State and O'Farrell who will be honored by the fans there.

Mobile Defeats Fort Worth and Will Play Tulsa

Southern Association and Western Champions to Meet in Class A Title Series.

PORT WORTH, Tex., Sept. 28.—When Harry Moore, burly Fort Worth catcher, took a healthy swing at one of Lefty Puh's shots for his third strike and the last out of the Mobile-Fort Worth game here yesterday, the Dixie baseball championship crown passed from the Fort Worth Panthers, who have held it for two years, to the Bears from Mobile Bay.

The game, which ended in a 2-1 victory for the champion Bears of the Southern Association, marked the finale of the most hotly contested series since the Texas-Southern annual classic was established two years ago. The Bears won four games to the Panthers' two, one game ending in a 6-6 tie.

The Bears, who made a game fight through the Southern season to win their first pennant in the circuit's history, displayed the same gameness and unbeatable spirit that characterized their play during the league season in their series with the Texans, and to this, more than anything else, is attributed their triumph over the Panthers, who for three seasons have won the Texas League pennant by wide margins. Although decisively beaten by the Texas nine in the first two games, they turned on their adversaries and, with the exception of the tie game, defeated them in all subsequent battles, in one game turning apparent defeat into victory after two men were down in the ninth inning. Attention is now centered on the series between Mobile and Tulsa, pennant winner of the Western League, which will open in Oklahoma City, Friday, and which will determine the class A championship of the South and West. The Mobile team will go direct to Tulsa from here, not having time to return to their home city to receive the plaudits held in store for them by their home fans as a result of their victory over Fort Worth.

OUR HERO.

GEORGE SISLER is the King of Swat. Likewise a noble youth; He doesn't knock 'em from the lot. As does the slugging Ruth. But George is always on his toes And hits the pellet on the nose. And makes a lot of safety blows. And that's the solemn truth.

When George ambles up to swing The hurlers throw a fit. For that's about the only thing That George cannot hit. With easy eye and steady nerve He hits the spitter or the curve; In fact for anything they serve, He doesn't care a whit.

In stealing the elusive base He's quicker than a cat. He turns the trick with ease and grace And lets it go at that. He's reticent about the way He soaks the pellet every day— When George has anything to say He says it with his bat.

HOW ABOUT IT?

The White Sox have taken out $125,000 insurance on the life of Willie Kamm. How about a little insurance against losing the pennant?

The Giants have reached that delectable stage of the proceedings when they can't lose the pennant no matter how hard they try.

ALL TOGETHER.

THREE rousing cheers for Battling Earl. Who walloped Carp with might and main; And also three for Eugene Crigui. Who almost fought with J. Kilbane.

REVENGE.

All Johnny Kilbane wanted was $100,000 for fighting Crigui. Johnny must have been reading about the way the French have been shaking down the American tourists.

"Volstead Calls for Evidence." Bring a couple of glasses also and a little water on the side.

Last year's prices will prevail at the world's series. Likewise last year's teams.

The man on the sandbox rode downtown with the Veiled Prophet this morning. He said to put down a little bet on New York in the world's series.

England objects to Russia sitting in at the peace table. Probably afraid that the piece de resistance would be bombs on the whole shell.

In that little game over in Europe Russia wants to sit in and play a round of rubles. Turkey is sitting pretty with a pat hand. England is holding a strait under the gun, while Greece is going home in a barrel.

Turkey was out on a limb for a while, but has bought another stack and calls for a new deal.

"McKinley Lacks Line Material." So that's what all the McKinley line.

One Lump, Please
By "Bugs" Baer

SOCIETY is very much interested in what our well-dressed furnace is going to wear this winter.

Short tons will be popular. With slate-colored trimmings.

Black will be stylish. But coal of any color will be in demand.

Ashes to ashes, dust to dust. They sell it for coal, buy it we must.

All mine boys are back at work, resting from their latest strike. Miners and owners are very friendly. At all times. When they aren't shaking hands, they're shaking fists.

Public is invited to every peace banquet so that capital and labor will have somebody to wash dishes.

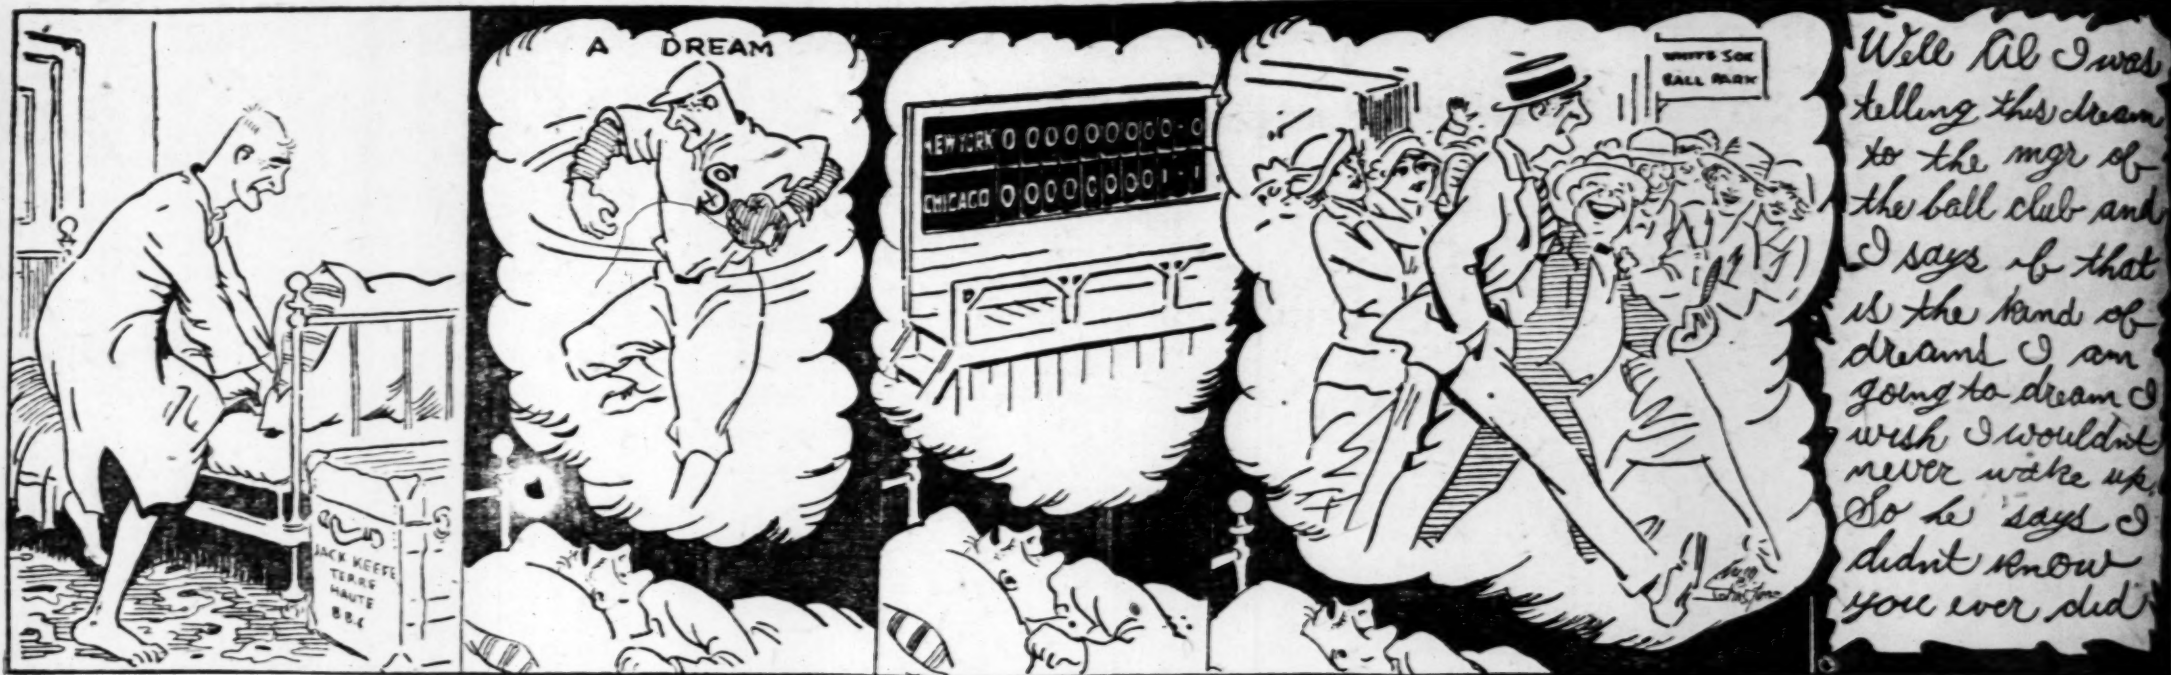

Scientists figure that this man's earth will be colder than winter herring in 20,000,000 years. That indicates they didn't reckon on coal strikes. This proletarian's hemisphere is going to be very cold and so quick that your alarm clock will explode.

New York will suffer more than other towns, because it can get bituminous coal, but it is against law to burn soft coal in hard neighborhoods.

When ladies come home to roost in your coal bin and frost is on your vest, you will bless your enemy who heaped coals of fire on your head. In fact, you will hold out your skull for another dishful.

One Lump, please.

French Warn Kemal.

By the Associated Press.
LONDON, Sept. 28.—The government has sent a virtual ultimatum to Mustafa Kemal stating that his troops must leave Chankay zone.

By the Associated Press.
CONSTANTINOPLE, Sept.
Mustapha Kemal Pasha, replying
Gen. Harington's telegram
Wednesday, has sent a message declaring his troops would not advance farther. He says he de clares no incident should occur
that he will see Gen. Harington
as soon as possible.

By the Associated Press.
CONSTANTINOPLE, Sept.
General Sir Charles
Harington, commander-in-chief of British forces in the Dardanelles area, plans to leave this afternoon
for a conference with Mustapha Kemal Pasha, probably at Mudani
the Sea of Marmora.

The British are confident the next 24 hours pass without firing of shots at Chankay or points along the Dardanelles, as immediate danger of hostilities have been avoided. This is the first time estimated to be re for Gen. Harington's journey interview with Mustapha Kemal
The allied high command
have decided to dispatch a com mission composed of British, French and Italian officers to Rodosto, Bourgas and Adrianople, in Th
in order to exercise a pacifying influence there.

According to the Exchange
graph, part of the French
which have since been in Con
tinople, will be used for the de
of the European shore of the Bosphorus.

Backs to the Straits.
With their backs to the British forces in Chankay
look on three sides upon the
of Mustapha Kemal Pasha. By recent incursions the Turks completed their occupation of neutral zone, in defiance of Britain's ultimatum, and a is swiftly approaching.

Gen. Felle, French High Com mander, has dispatched a com mission to Smyrna, telling Must Kemal that the British sincerely desire to avoid a conflict, but France will not be able to re
them if they are attacked.

The British are confident the hold their lines against any Kem attack, as their flanks at C are protected by a powerful of warships, the long range of which can sweep the area
the town for a distance of 20 miles. The Turks at present are equipped only with machine guns and light artillery.

Among the British units are the super-dreadna Hengeance and Resolution, the powerful men-of-war afloat.

Resoporus Craft Searched
The British naval authorities
holding up all Greek and Tur craft in the Bosphorus and the channels, making minute search materials of war.

The Greek battleship A
which was taken from Con stantinople by her mutinous crew, sailing through the Straits, was detected by Turkish land batteries.
Crews continue to storm
consulates and passport offi ces, and the capital and some have been forced to close their doors to the police for protection.

There is an unending str
Greek and Armenian snarl American Consulate, the line
each day before dawn.
